

Ackworth Howard C of E School

Educating for 'life in all its fullness.'

RE Curriculum – Essential Knowledge

Intent

At Ackworth Howard J&I School, we believe that in RE we should develop the children's skills so that they can explore people's beliefs and asks questions about life. Children should learn to understand the differences and similarities between people and how they live, based on their beliefs. Through RE children will learn to reflect and respond to their own ideas.

Mind - RE at our school engages pupils in an enquiry approach where they can develop an understanding for the expression of beliefs, cultural practices and influence of principle religions and world views in the local, national and wider global community.

Body – We encourage our children to be inspired by moments of awe and wonder and respond to God through worship and seek solace and support from their faith. Through our inspiring curriculum will give children the opportunity to respond creatively to their life experiences.

Spirit RE in our school has a significant role for the development of pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development. We promote respect and open-mindedness towards others with different faiths and beliefs and we encourage pupils to develop their sense of identity and belonging through self-awareness and reflection.

What our children say about RE...

- We are a Church school and RE is a subject that all schools should complete work on. Learning about different faiths and beliefs helps us to understand each other and to be tolerant. If a new child joined our school and was Jewish we would be able to help them settle as we would understand more about their religion – Year 5
- In RE lessons we learn about Christian stories and beliefs but also we learn about other religions so that we can understand other beliefs and practices– Year 3
- We know about key events in different religions such as Christingle, we can believe in God and understand his teachings and we learn to be better people and follow the Christian values– Year 4
- We are a religious school and we need to learn about our own faith and the faiths and beliefs of others– Year 6
- In RE we learn about other people, learn about God and Jesus and learn how to do the right thing. – Year 2

Values and attitudes in RE

Curiosity and wonder: Developing imagination and curiosity; recognising that knowledge is bounded by mystery; appreciating the sense of wonder at the world in which they live; developing their interest in and capacity to respond to questions of meaning and purpose; exploring the nature of religious practices and teachings; being willing to look carefully at 'the other' and be open to learning from it; following mysterious and profound lines of thinking through, to see where they lead

Commitment: Understanding the importance of commitment to a set of values by which to live one's life; willingness to develop a positive approach to life; the ability to learn, while living with certainty and uncertainty.

Fairness: Listening to the views of others without prejudging one's response; careful consideration of other views; willingness to consider evidence, experience and argument; readiness to look beyond surface impressions; developing the courage to pursue fairness.

Respect: Being sensitive to the feelings and ideas of others; developing skills of listening and a willingness to learn from others, even when others' views are different from their own; being ready to value difference and diversity for the common good; appreciating that some beliefs are not inclusive and considering the issues that this raises for individuals and society; being prepared to recognise and acknowledge their own bias; recognising the rights of others to hold their own views; avoidance of ridicule; discerning between what is worthy of respect and what is not; appreciation that religious convictions are often deeply felt.

Values and attitudes in RE

Self-understanding: Feeling confident about their own beliefs and identity and sharing them without fear of embarrassment or ridicule; developing a realistic and positive sense of their own religious, moral and spiritual ideas and a mature sense of self worth; recognising their own uniqueness as human beings and affirming their self-worth; becoming increasingly sensitive to the impact of their ideas and behaviour on other people; developing the capacity to discern the personal relevance of religious questions; deepening awareness of the role of belief and tradition in identity and culture.

Open mindedness: Being willing to learn and gain new understanding; engaging in argument or disagreeing reasonably and respectfully (without belittling or abusing others) about religious, moral and spiritual questions; developing the confidence in one's own identity to appreciate the identity of others; willingness to seek new truth through learning; openness to points of view different from one's own

Critical mindedness: A willingness to examine ideas, questions and disputes about religious and spiritual questions; distinguishing between opinions, viewpoints and beliefs in connection with issues of conviction and faith; the development of attitudes that distinguish between such things as superstition or prejudice and such things as conviction, personal commitment and faith; the ability to argue respectfully, reasonably and evidentially about religious and spiritual questions.

Enquiry: A desire to seek after the truth; developing a personal interest in ultimate or metaphysical questions: an ability to live with ambiguities and paradox; the desire to search for the meaning of life; being prepared to reconsider existing views critically; being prepared to acknowledge bias and prejudice in oneself; willingness to value insight and imagination as ways of perceiving reality.
